Headline:
Outbreaks of rain then brighter spells and heavy showers.

Today:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain initially, the rain especially across southern areas, this breaking up into a mixture of brighter spells and heavy showers by this afternoon. The showers will be sometimes heavy, with a chance of hail and thunder. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Evening showers, some heavy with a chance of hail and thunder. Overnight the showers will largely fade away, leaving clear spells and possibly some patchy fog forming. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Sunday:
Any early fog soon clears. Then bright or sunny spells and scattered showers for all areas, the showers sometimes heavy and perhaps with hail and thunder. Temperatures near to normal. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday heavy showers, sometimes thundery. Tuesday and Wednesday further showers, although probably not as heavy or as many. Bright or sunny spells each day, but still temperatures slightly below normal.
